

Mr. Churchill Warns Gettysburg Tragedies May Be Surpassed In European War In 1944

London, Nov. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill declared today that the campaign of 1944 in Europe will be the most severe and costly yet undertaken by the Allies, but he asserted that the Russians have wrecked the Nazi war machine and inflicted wounds "that may well prove fatal."

The back of the German U-boat warfare has been broken, the British war leader declared, and the tremendous aerial blows upon the Reich "have been one of the prime forces in the impending ruin of the Hitler regime."

Severe and Costly to Allies
In an address broadcast to the world, Churchill said "I am myself proceeding on the assumption that the campaign of 1944 in Europe will be the most severe and most costly to the Allies yet fought."

"We must strain every nerve for its successful accomplishment. This is no time for relaxation."

Hitler still has 400 divisions, promises a desperate struggle and "we cannot exclude the possibility of new forms of attack upon this island," Churchill warned in his address at the inaugural luncheon of a new Lord Mayor of London.

He repeated later in his address that "the year 1944 will see the greatest sacrifice of life of the British and American armies."

Traditional Procession Precedes Luncheon
His address was on the occasion of the induction of a new Lord Mayor of London, Sir Frank E. Newson-Smith, who succeeded Sir Samuel Joseph.

The traditional procession of the Lord Mayor through the streets preceded the luncheon.

On the same occasion last year Churchill disclosed that President Roosevelt was the author of the North African landing and that the landing was intended only to gain vantage ground for a new front against Hitler—a front which since has been opened, with more to follow.

Churchill recalled at the beginning of his address that in 1940 at the height of the blitz he pledged Great Britain never to give up the fight to liberate peoples from the Nazi yoke.

He recalled also he told a similar gathering that Britain would join the United States in war on Japan. "There is nothing wrong with that," he said amid cheers.

Unbroken Series of Allied Victories
In the last year, he observed, there have been an unbroken series of Allied victories and the back of the U-boat campaign "has been broken."

He said the aerial campaign against Germany might well be the precursor of victory in the European struggle.

"In all these struggles on land, sea and in the air Great Britain has had the honor to bear the largest share—and pay the largest price," the Prime Minister asserted.

His reference to the American troops' part in the Pacific campaign and General MacArthur's role brought a round of applause.

"But the outstanding triumph of this year has been the Russian advance, liberating so much of Russian soil from the foul invader," he said. This, too, brought a roll of applause.

Reds Wreck Nazi Machine
Russian valor and generalship and science have wrecked the Nazi war machine, he asserted, and inflicted wounds "that may well prove mortal."

"We and our American Allies have done our best to bring our forces across the seas and put them into action against the enemy."

"The air attacks on Germany have been one of the prime forces in the impending ruin of the Hitler regime."

"We all have been cheered by the results of the Moscow conference and we look forward to welcoming back in the next week or so our Foreign Secretary from his successful mission."

He called U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, "that gallant American eagle."

Referring to his 1942 speech on the same occasion, Churchill said:

"Last year, in 1942 I thought it right to say I did not consider it any part of my duty to liquidate the British Empire. I do not conceal from you now that I hold the same opinion today."

Beat Hitler Regime Into Dust
Churchill described the main Allied task that of "beating down into dust" the Hitler regime.

He said Hitler and his retinue were fighting for their very lives. "Victory will certainly be won, not only over Germany, but over Japan, with which the British Empire has an inexorable quarrel" which must be dissolved only by "unconditional surrender," the Prime Minister added and emphasized:

"We must make certain that chaos does not follow the victory."

"A great many people speak as if the end of the war in Europe were near. I hope they may prove right," he said, but added a warning against hoping for a quick collapse of Germany.

"No Time to Relax Precautions"
"It is no time to relax any of our precautions of our fire-watching and home guard services."

"It is no time for those who have practical war work to do to dream of a brave new world," he said, and declared also it was no time for political quibbling.

"It is a reasonable assumption that unless we make some grave strategic mistake that the year 1944 will see the climax of the European war."

"Unless some happy event comes on which we have no right to count, 1944 will see the greatest sacrifice of the British and United States Armies," he said.

May Surpass Gettysburg Tragedies
He said this campaign might surpass the tragedies of Waterloo and Gettysburg and bring sorrow to many homes in the United Kingdom and the United States.

"We have given our men in the field the best chance. That must dominate our actions," he said in pleading for calmness in considering the differences between peoples.

He promised a political structure after the war that would secure the peace and freedom of mankind.

Before concluding Churchill again sounded the note of unconditional surrender, adding:

"But that doesn't mean our task or duty will be done. Just as in time of peace we must prepare for sudden emergency, so in time of war we must make sure confusion and chaos do not follow the victories of the Army or stultify the unexpected surrender of the enemy."

Mutual Respect
"No airy visions, no party doctrines or party prejudices, no vested interests x x x must stand in the way of providing for food, work and home. They must be prepared now."

There is no doubt, Churchill said, that the Moscow conference "has had the effect of making our Russian friends feel as they never felt before that it is the heartfelt wish of our British and American nations to fight the war without them in loyal alliance and afterwards to work with them on the basis of mutual respect and comradeship for reestablishment and rebuilding of this distracted and tormented world."

Hampton Hotel Is Struck By Truck
Damage amounting to $400 occurred at 11:15 o'clock Monday evening when a truck skidded into the side of the Hampton hotel owned by Mrs. Dorothy Buckner.

Jacob Simpson, 36, Baltimore, Maryland, was driving the truck south on the Hanover-York Springs road when he put on his brakes to slow for the square in Hampton.

The wheels locked and the truck skidded to the left into the building, knocking off part of one corner of the structure. The truck was owned by Theodore Jackson, Baltimore. No charges were laid. There were no injuries. Private J. A. Treas of the local state police investigated.

State Plans $500,000,000 On Five Year Road-Program
Pittsburgh, Nov. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania plans to spend $500,000,000 on road improvements in the five-year period after the war. Governor Martin said last night but he warned that it must be a "pay-as-you-go" proposition.

In addressing the Pennsylvania Automotive Association, he said:

"This plan will give us the finest system of roads in the world. It will meet the needs of our densely populated sections and our rural areas. It will help our cities, aid our farms, our industries and the people generally."

In the postwar period, however, he said "we do not want WPA or any similar system, adding:

"In the five years ending June 1, 1939, these agencies spent $269,557,000 on the Pennsylvania highway system. Properly expended, this amount would complete more than half of our proposed plan for this postwar system."

"We must learn again that the sound method of financing public improvements is pay-as-you-go."

FLASH FLOODS DELAY TRAIN; MANY WASHOUTS

Intermittent downpours that began late Sunday evening and continued through part of Monday evening flooded roads, homes and business places, caused small streams to overflow their banks, delayed passenger trains and stalled many motorists Monday afternoon and evening.

Dr. Henry Stewart, official weather recorder here, reported that 2.2 inches of rain fell in the 24 hours preceding 5 p. m. Monday.

Flash-floods were numerous in various parts of the county and some property damage was reported.

Train Delayed
A new contingent of aviation students headed for Gettysburg college had a taste of flood conditions when the Reading train on which they were traveling was held up more than three hours by washouts on the line.

The contingent was on the regular train leaving Harrisburg 5:20 p. m. Monday and arrived in Gettysburg shortly after 10:30 p. m. The train made a 20 minute stop at Biglerville to determine the conditions of the track ahead when a small washout was found near Table Rock. It then continued to Goldenville where another washout halted the train from 7:20 p. m. to about 10 p. m. Workmen from Gettysburg filled the washout there. Another washout at the peach orchard curve near town also was filled in before the train was able to continue.

Roads Flooded
Nearly all low spots in roads leading into town were flooded, with Rock creek reported over the Bonneauville road and level with the bottom of the bridge on the Lincoln highway east of town. The creek was reported over the Harrisburg road.

Rose Garden, near Dillsburg, was flooded, with local residents who work in Harrisburg forced to detour through the back way into Dillsburg in order to reach home. In a mile and a half stretch along the Harrisburg road just west of town the road was under water in four places.

Employees at the Gettysburg Water company plant along Marsh creek reported the flood there was the worst since this spring. The waters from Marsh creek entered the driveway to the pumping station and the road between the pumping station

SALVAGE DRIVE IS POSTPONED

Postponement until Friday of the salvage drive scheduled for this evening was announced today by Fire Chief James A. Aumen. Factors beyond control of the fire company forced the postponement. It was stated.

The arrangements by which one section of firemen would begin the drive at four o'clock and another section start later in the evening will probably be continued when the drive is held Friday, it was stated.

The delay in the drive will probably operate to increase the amount of salvaged materials available, firemen said, with householders able to complete the search of their homes for salvage materials before Friday. Every possible effort to get out the scrap was urged by the firemen who said that the need for all types of scrap is becoming more urgent each day.

PLAN FAIRFIELD SALVAGE DRIVE

The Fairfield fire company announced today that its first salvage campaign in that community will be conducted next Tuesday with surrounding rural areas in three townships to be canvassed on the following day.

Seeking all types of scrap metal, properly prepared tin cans, paper and rags, the firemen will make their collections with the fire truck and additional trucks to be donated for the drive. The scrap that will be collected will be sold and the money will be turned over to the general fund of the company.

Sections of Highland, Liberty and Hamilton township will be covered in Wednesday's collection.

Between 50 and 75 soldiers, state police and firemen formed the rescue squad. The fire department played lights on the field while three lieutenants and two troopers, among them Trooper I. K. Judy, carried the rope toward the rapidly-tiring soldiers.

They managed to get within 75 feet of the five, then let the rope drift downstream in the current. Judy said the men were so weak they found it difficult even to use the rope.

The rescuers worked until about 2 a. m. before completing the task of getting the survivors to safety, they were taken to an Army hospital suffering from shock and exposure.

The Army withheld the name of the missing man pending notification of his relatives.

WASTE CHECKED IN ARMY, SAYS COL. SHARPLESS

Uncle Sam's army does everything possible to avoid food wastage, Col. Frank E. Sharpless, head of the college ROTC, told the local Rotary club at its regular meeting Monday evening, but at the same time, he said, when an army expands from less than 150,000 to over 8,000,000 in a few years there is bound to be some food wastage caused by inexperienced cooks and supply officers.

Each unit of the small standing army had a cooking cadre trained in handling foods and ready for expansion at any time to about four times the size of the regular army, he explained, but the expansion was much more rapid than that and inexperienced men had to be placed in charge of messes in order to feed the army.

All purchasing for the army is made through the quartermaster department with field officers in each of the nine service commands. Marketing centers are set up where foods and supplies are available and all purchases are made by the quartermaster corps with inspectors checking each item of food purchased to make sure the army is getting the best. The purchased food then goes to either the marketing center, or in the case of some perishables, directly to the camps.

Careful Inspections

Menus are prepared by army dieticians two months in advance of use, Col. Sharpless said, and then the quartermaster corps purchases the foods required to fill the menus, basing the amount purchased on the known strength of the army and its estimated mobilization at the time the menu will be ready for use. Each day every messing unit reports to its supply officer the actual number of meals eaten and is issued, three days later, sufficient rations to fill that need so that there will be no waste from extra meals prepared. Recipes for the foods and tables of the amount of materials needed for each hundred men are sent with the menus to the mess sergeants.

Besides the inspection given the food by the quartermaster corps, each unit medical officer examines the food to see that it is fit for consumption when it arrives. Company officers are charged with seeing that the mess is sanitary and that there is no waste of food in the company mess halls, Col. Sharpless asserted.

Different Eating Habits

Not only do the battalion and company officers inspect the mess each day to determine there is no waste and see that the mess cooks are thrifty housekeepers who use left overs in further meals, but other officers inspect the kitchens. Col. Sharpless reported one of the sharp letters he ever received was one from a commanding officer who discovered a pound of meat on a bone thrown away in a kitchen under Col. Sharpless' command. Failure of an officer to check on his kitchens and see there is no waste is marked against the officer on his efficiency report and too much carelessness results in failure to secure promotion—or demotion, the head of the college ROTC, intimated.

Another possible cause of waste is the difference in eating habits of men from different sections of the country. Many men see certain types of food for the first time when they enter the Army and refuse to eat the new foods. Thus there is some waste until they can be educated, Col. Sharpless said.

Two Air Cadets, Edward G. Robinson and Fred DeRosa, of the 55th college Training Detachment, presented an entertainment prior to Col. Sharpless' talk. Increased supervision over 'teen-age children was urged. Mrs. Kastner said there have been 319 cases of juvenile delinquency in her department for the first ten months of this year as compared to 91 throughout 1940.

Other factors for the increase, she said, were broken homes caused by divorce, death or separation of parents and a desire by 15 and 16-year-olds to leave school for employment.

CHANDLER MOST VALUABLE STAR IN AM. LEAGUE

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Spurgeon "Spud" Chandler still is winning. The big right-hander who won 20 regular season games for the New York Yankees and then won two World Series games has won the poll to determine the American league's most valuable player for 1943.

Receiving 12 out of 24 first-place votes and a point total of 246 out of a possible 336, Chandler led Luke Appling, Chicago White Sox shortstop and league batting champion, by 31 points, with Appling providing the only serious competition.

The choice was made by a committee of 24 members of the Baseball Writers' Association, each committee member voting for 10 men in order of preference. Each first-place vote was good for 14 points, second place nine, third eight, etc.

The remaining 12 first-place votes were divided among five players, with Appling getting five, Rudy York of the Tigers and Bob Johnson of the Washington Senators one each, Bill Johnson of the Yankees three, and Bill Dickey of the Yankees two.

Appling was the only player to be mentioned among the 10 choices by every voter. Chandler missed out by one, and York was on the lists of 20 of the scribes.

In all, 38 players were mentioned, with the Yankees topping the list with eight nominees. Detroit, Washington, Cleveland and Boston each had five players named, Philadelphia four, and St. Louis and Chicago three each.

Chandler, aside from missing out entirely on one voter's list, was named not lower than sixth on the 23 others, and Appling was not placed lower than fifth with the exception of one ninth-place vote.

Rudy York finished in third place with a point total of 152. Bill Johnson was fourth with 135, and Bob Johnson fifth with 116. From that point on the point totals dropped sharply, with Dick Wakefield of Detroit next in line with 72.

Best Season
The 34-year-old Chandler just finished his seventh and best year with the Yankees. He came up from Newark in 1937 to pitch in 12 games. However, until this year he had been dogged by bad luck, an arm operation and a fractured ankle being among his misfortunes.

He also was somewhat in the shadow of such hurlers as Red Ruffing and Lefty Gomez. As a result this was the first year everything was favorable, and he took full advantage of it. He trained in the south, came north in fine condition and all season was the mainstay of the Yankee mound staff.

Appling's 328 average won him the batting championship for his second time.

Other Votes
The voting, with points received by each man:

Chandler 246, Appling 215, York 152, Bill Johnson 135, Bob Johnson 116, Wakefield 72, Nick Etten, New York, 61; Bill Dickey, New York, 58; Vernon Stephens, St. Louis, 49; Lou Boudreau, Cleveland, 40; Paul Trout, Detroit, 38; George Case, Washington, 37; Charley Keller, New York, 31; Bobby Doerr, Boston, 21; Al Smith, Cleveland, 19; Gerald Priddy, Washington, 17; Oris Hockett, Cleveland, 14; Don Gutteridge, St. Louis, 13; Early Wynn, Washington, 13; Jim Bagby, Cleveland, 11; Pinky Higgins, Detroit, 8; Roger Cramer, Detroit, 8; Chet Laabs, St. Louis, 6; Jake Early, Washington, 6; Joe Gordon, New York, and Roger Wolff, Philadelphia, 4; Lamar Newcome, Boston; Joe Cronin, Boston; Jess Flores, Philadelphia, and Gordon Maltzberger, Chicago, 3 each; Frank Crosetti, New York, and Ken Keltner, Cleveland, 2 each, and Pete Fox, Boston; Ralph Hodgins, Chicago; Johnny Murphy, New York; Dick Siebert, Philadelphia; Jim Tabor, Boston, and Hal Wagner, Philadelphia, 1 each.

Odell Is Called Greatest Player

Philadelphia, Nov. 9 (AP)—Is Bob Maxwell memorial football club Odell an all-American? Peanut! This is Bert Bell, president of the speaking:

"Odell is one of the greatest all-around players of all time, the greatest player in America today, and in the Army-Penn game his play excelled that of the great Jim Thorpe on the best day Thorpe ever had."

Those are Bell's very words. He spoke them yesterday in presenting Odell with the Maxwell club's award to the college football player of the week.

Odell responded with a prediction that Navy will beat Army in the service team classic.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Don't be surprised if Holy Cross and Louisiana State turn up in Miami's Orange Bowl New Year's Day—in spite of what happened to Steve Van Buren and company Saturday.

The committee has been working on that pair and is willing to laugh off one game to get two civilian teams—and all the arrangements have been made to transport a full squad of eastern stars to San Francisco for the Shrine East-West game (if they can find enough stars).

Plans for a war bond pro football show here Thanksgiving Day have been abandoned because George Marshall wouldn't lend his Redskins for scrimmages with the Giants, Dodgers and Steagles.

EVEN STEVENS

Two big questions were tossed at Lieut. Commander Mal Stevens, Sampson Naval Station coach, at yesterday's football writers lunch. When Mal was telling about Russ Strait, 17-year-old Sampson back who'll "be all America in a couple of years" after he advances to the Naval Academy, Lieut. Comm. Rip Miller, Navy line coach, demanded:

"How's that guy on long division and what's his congressman's name?" Then a scribe asked what had become of Bill Maceyko of Cornell. "We've got him," replied Mal with a cat-at-canary grin, "but he's not as good as our regular halfback, Andy Stopper."

If the Cincinnati Reds can't get the Indiana U. field house for spring training during daylight hours next spring, they may do their training there after dark. Larry MacPhail really must have started something when he inaugurated night baseball in Cincinnati. Tubby Crawford, a pole vaulter, recently quit the Penn State soccer squad on a Thursday, joined the football team on Friday and played in Saturday's game. Unlike the Marine trainees Penn State lost, Tubby had completed his boot training. One reason why Spud Chandler got the American league most valuable player award was that only two teams—Washington and Cleveland—could beat him this year. While nearly everybody was congratulating Pistol Pete Cawthon because the grid Dodgers finally won a game, Scout Jack Lavelle offered condolence. "Sorry you lost the draft rights to Bertelli," he said.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Wilbur Jennings, Richmond (Va.) News-Leader: "Duke University lost about 30 men from its squad of 80 recently by Navy transfers. Now maybe coach Eddie Cameron can recognize some of his boys. Early in the year Duke's opponents reported that Eddie had so many out for football that he couldn't see from one end of the players' bench to the other."

SERVICE DEPT.
Cross off the Del Monte, California, Navy Pre-Flight School from your service sports future book. It will be decommissioned early in January. Phil Rizzuto and Pee Wee Reese, rival shortstops at the Norfolk Naval Training and Naval Air Stations this summer, are coming up with a pair of "jayvee basketball teams to continue their feud."

Sgt. Al Thredgill, former Temple U. high jumper, recently showed the Camp Ellis, Illinois, soldiers how to do it by clearing six feet 1½ inches while wearing his fatigue uniform and GI shoes. Lieut. Muzz Patrick, former defense star of the hockey Rangers, is stationed at the Norfolk Prison Reception Center. Still hanging around the penalty box.

LUJACK WISECRACK
Unbending enough to admit that Notre Dame hasn't missed Angelo Bertelli too much, Coach Frank Leahy says that after the Navy game he took Johnny Lujack aside and told him he'd have the responsibility of running the team; that he'd be playing in New York before 76,000 fans, etc. Concluding his speech, Frank assured the youngster, "I feel you will do a magnificent job." Lujack looked at him and, in all seriousness, replied: "Coach, you're absolutely right."

NOTRE DAME IS FAR AHEAD IN GRIDIRON POLL

By TED MEIER

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy, of Notre Dame, believes the Irish-Northwestern football game this Saturday "can go either way," but the sportswriters of the nation apparently think the Southbend mentor is talking through his hat.

All of the grid experts participating in this week's Associated Press poll to determine the top ten teams ranked the Irish in first place. This is the first time a team received unanimous backing.

Altogether Notre Dame, on the basis of its 26-0 trouncing of Army, polled a total of 910 points, putting the Irish in a class by themselves. Purdue retained second place, but was far behind with 570 points.

Navy, which bounced back from a Notre Dame licking to hand Penn its first defeat, jumped to third place with Michigan, Iowa Seahawks, Army, Duke, Northwestern, Southern California and Penn completing the first ten.

Hails Graham
"Northwestern has one of the greatest backs in the country in Otto Graham," Leahy told the New York football writers yesterday. "He is a wonder at passing, running and kicking. I know because I coached him for the all-star game in Chicago this year."

"We got the breaks to beat Army," Leahy continued without cracking a smile. "I think Northwestern will give us a tough battle. It can go either way. I know a lot of persons will be surprised if they beat us, but not me."

Here's how the teams ranked, counting 10 points for first place, etc:

1. Notre Dame 910; 2. Purdue 570; 3. Navy 518; 4. Michigan, 486; 5. Iowa Seahawks 459; 6. Army 404; 7. Duke 3; 8. Northwestern 285; 9. Southern California 250; 10. Pennsylvania 131.

Second Ten: 11. College of Pacific 113; 12. Washington 79; 13. Del Monte Preflight 78; 14. Texas Aggies 56; 15. Fourth Air Force, March Field, 48; 16. Texas 34; 17. Tulsa, 31; 18. Dartmouth 30; 19. Georgia Tech 23; 20. San Diego Naval Training 20.

Also runs: 21. Great Lakes 13; 22. Colorado College 11; 23. Southwestern Louisiana 10; 24. Arkansas Aggies 9; 25. Bainbridge (Mo.) Naval Training 8; 26. Colorado University 2; 27. Randolph Field (Tex.) 1.

SPORT SHORTS

Clemson, S. C., Nov. 9 (AP)—"Good morning, Coach," said an Army officer last week to Coach Frank Howard after Clemson College's footballers had taken successive beatings from South Carolina and Wake Forest.

"Don't call me Coach," Howard retorted. "Just say hello, boy."

Yesterday, after Clemson had returned to the win column with a 26-6 victory over Davidson, Howard greeted the same officer:

"Well, I guess you might call me coach for four or five days now."

Weston, Mo., Nov. 9 (AP)—Coach Dale Woods' Weston high school football team has completed its third straight all-victorious season, running its string to 23 and scoring 251 points to its opponents six, in its seven 1943 games.

Shawnee, Okla., Nov. 9 (AP)—Big Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete 30 years ago, was en route to an Oxnard, Calif., war plant today because the coaching job he sought in his native Oklahoma failed to materialize.

Mrs. Mary Wisonn, Thorpe's sister said he felt keenly disappointed at the collapse of his hope for a place at Oklahoma University or some other state institution.

Maroon Reserves Face Biglerville

Penn Loses Fifth End In Two Weeks

Philadelphia, Nov. 9 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania's football team lost a fifth end in two weeks today when the transfer of Walter Buben, former Camden, New Jersey, high school star, to another Navy training center was announced.

Buben, who replaced Frank Kane, injured in the Army game, and started at the right wing against Navy, leaves Saturday. His transfer may mean that Herb Nelson, first string tackle, will go back to end, the position he played last year.

HORSE AUCTION OPENING TODAY

Harrisburg, Nov. 9 (AP)—Some 280 standardbred harness racing horses were groomed from head to hoof for the opening today of the fifth annual auction of the Standardbred Horse Sales company.

Eighty-seven yearlings from the Hanover Shoe farms, of Hanover, Pa., were brought to the three-day sale, considered the nation's leading mart.

Horse fanciers from most Eastern states and Canada gathered for the spirited bidding which follows expect to bring some of the highest prices in recent years.

Outstanding among aged horses (over three years old) up for sale is Colby Hanover, a four-year-old and the favorite in the Hambletonian stake event in 1942. The horse was consigned by Irvin W. Gleason, of Williamsport, and C. W. Phellis, of Greenwich, Connecticut, who bought him, for a reported price of about $15,000 from the estate of D. Eugene Frey, of York, two years ago.

A full brother of Colby Hanover, a yearling named Colin Hanover also is on the sale list. Both horses were sired by Mr. McElwyn, the dam being Miss Bertha Hanover. Eighteen other yearlings by Mr. McElwyn were consigned by the Hanover farms.

WILLIAMS MAY GET TITLE SHOT

Philadelphia, Nov. 9 (AP)—A shot at the lightweight title was a definite possibility for Ike Williams today after his sensational three-round knockout of Johnny Hutchinson before the season's largest crowd, 8,000, at the Arena last night.

And it looked like it might develop into a grudge match. For Bob Montgomery, holder of the crown in New York and Pennsylvania, scoffed at Williams' aspirations last week, and said he didn't belong in the same ring with Hutchinson.

The Trenton, New Jersey, boy proved the latter assertion, but not the way the Bobcat meant it. And Hutchinson barely hit the canvas in 24 seconds of the third round before Williams' manager, Connie McCarthy, was on his feet, shouting to the press section:

"Now we want Montgomery, or Beau Jack. What do you think we came here for?"

In scoring his 39th straight victory, Williams plastered Hutchinson all over the ring in the first round, felled him three times in the second, and beat him down before he got out of his own corner in the third.

Williams weighed only 131½ to Hutchinson's 137.

Nazi Prisoners Had Tunnelled 150 Feet

Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 9 (AP)—Discovery of a hidden, electrically-lighted, 150-foot tunnel leading beyond the outer fence is believed to have frustrated the escape of a large number of German prisoners of war at Camp Trinidad, Lt. Col. William S. Hannan said Monday.

Colonel Hannan, commanding officer of the camp, said the tunnel exit was discovered first, as the result of investigation of several recent escapes. Fully 65 feet outside the fence, it was covered with foliage growing in dirt-filled boxes which could be lifted out by men escaping, he explained.

PORK INFLUX

Chicago, Nov. 9 (AP)—A record influx of hogs into the nation's stock yards during the next two or three months was foreseen by livestock experts today and Chicago meat packers were confronted with a new problem—finding sufficient manpower to handle the big runs. The situation gives every indication of being the severest crisis yet produced by the manpower shortage.

LABOR ATTACKS WAGE CEILINGS

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP)—Labor assaults on wage ceilings widened today as a Presidential committee charged with reporting on the ratio between living costs and worker incomes set out to try to beat a 60 day limit for its study.

With the miners' wage dispute reduced to secondary issues—if not finally resolved—the main attack on the wage front came from the CIO, the AFL railroad unions, and the independent railroad brotherhoods. All the rail unions are taking strike votes which are expected to authorize a tieup of the nation's railroads whenever the union chiefs elect to call a walkout. While most government officials are confident a strike will not materialize, there is no clear indication of what shape a peaceful settlement might take.

The cost of living committee's report may come too late to have any bearing on the railroad situation, but it will be directly related to the CIO's demands in the next few months. The committee's objectives, briefly, are to determine whether the present method of collecting and evaluating data provides a fair index for wage ceiling purposes and, if not, suggest what changes should be made.

While chiefs of the 15 nonoperating rail unions were rejecting proposals of a special Presidential board and turning to Congress for help, President Philip Murray of the United Steelworkers of America announced his union would lead the CIO campaign for wage hikes regardless of the Little Steel formula.

Test cars proved General's mileage... with American-Made* rubber

From the desert roads of Southern California has come the final, positive proof that the new General Tire—from American-Made rubber—gives the kind of mileage and safety that General Tires have always delivered.

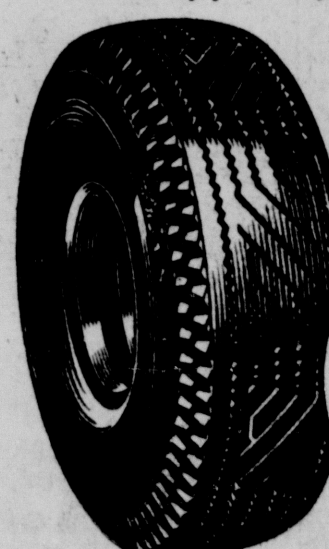

Under gruelling conditions—never experienced by you in your everyday driving—these new Generals stood up and took it in the Mojave Desert like you'd expect Generals to. Noonday heat; freezing cold at night; abrasive desert dust; drivers working around the clock... there was a test!

And, the results are in. The General Tire again is the tire you can count on for long, dependable mileage and a surplus of safety.

There is Still a Tire Shortage

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

SELF-SEARCH

Still, all my little whims I keep
And all my won'ts and wills.
While he, where rapid cannon sweep,
Braves grimly guarded hills.

By little extra tasks I face
To grumbling I am stirred,
But he, from danger's desperate place,
Sends no complaining word.

I walk the clean-swept city street
The while he slogs in mud.
The grass I see is green and sweet,
His fields are red with blood.

I wait that I am overtaken,
That less my share should be,
While every day that boy is asked
To give his life for me.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

ART THAT LIVES

I attended an auction sale of art recently. The capacity of the room was exceeded. People fought to get even standing room. Then the auctioneer tapped his pencil and the excitement was on. Some of the prices paid for pictures, and the keen competition to get each item, was a lesson in itself. What made people so anxious to own these small bits—for many were not large —if not that they spoke silently to something very deep in the human heart?

I thought of what I had read but a little time before by a noted English publisher and writer, who has left his impressions of the Holland painter Vermeer. He was writing with enthusiasm about that beautiful painting called "The Head of a Young Girl," which, at that time, hung at the Mauritshuis, at the Hague. Originally it was bought for two florins, thirty cents, and was covered with grime. It has been estimated that under normal times it could not even be bought for a quarter of a million dollars.
This writer of whom I speak said that he personally would be willing to live in a garret if this painting were on the walls.

Such a picture as this Vermeer shines and smiles through the centuries. I pray that this precious creation is somewhere safely preserved from the hand of the unspeakable invader.

There is something truly eternal about the creation of a great work of art. Something living, that once was flesh and blood, remains upon the canvas behind the brush and paint. Go into any fine art gallery and note the earnest, almost hungry, expression upon the faces of many of those who stand and look. The cultural value of art cannot be estimated.

All beauty is eternal. The Creator put beauty into every created thing. Even into that which is so perishable, like the snowflake. Design, symmetry, color and matchless form are to be found in every flower, tree and shrub. And there is beauty to every moving, living creation, as well. All this was so arranged that the spiritual in man could have his hunger appeased and satisfied.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Spiritual Pick-Me-Ups."

Dickinson Defeated: For the first time since football contests between Gettysburg and Dickinson colleges were begun, the former succeeded in winning two games in one season.

On Saturday the Dickinson eleven, smarting under the defeat administered some weeks ago, came over in all the rain storm to attempt to retrieve their fortune.

The local line played well on the defensive, Dickinson losing the ball frequently, because unable to make the necessary five yards in three attempts. Score: Gettysburg, 4; Dickinson, 0.

The detectives found they had

Vote Walkout Under
Anti-Strike Act

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 9 (AP)—A slowdown of war production in the highly industrial Panther Valley and Lehigh Valley areas of Pennsylvania was threatened today by a strike vote, taken under terms of the Smith-Connally Act, among employees of two plants of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company's Pottsville district.

Workers at the Hauto and Pine Grove stations voted 236 to 106 for the walkout yesterday, and Bennett Schauffler, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, said the results would be certified to President Roosevelt.

The balloting climaxed a dispute between the company and the utility workers organizing committee (CIO) over the discharge of an employee. The union sought his reinstatement with full back pay, while the company offered reinstatement at a lower grade and part back pay.

Using Filibuster
In "Reverse" Today

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP)—Speech-weary House members resigned themselves to another round of talk today as a small but aggressive bloc of Republicans continued a reverse filibuster against what they called failure of the administration to present a legislative program.

By talking day-in and day-out on miscellaneous subjects, and making their colleagues sit by and listen, they hoped to force action soon on such subjects as taxes, food, the Office of Price Administration and oil.

White Hill Youth
Captured In W. Va.

Harrisburg, Nov. 9 (AP)—Capture in Keyser, W. Va., of Oscar James Dallen, 17, of Clearfield, R. D. 2, some 20 days after he escaped from the nearby Pennsylvania Industrial School for Boys, was disclosed last night by the Rev. Eugene S. Keller, acting superintendent.

Rev. Keller said the boy was arrested Sunday by Keyser police as a suspicious character. Dallen escaped Oct. 20 in an automobile owned by a prison official.

Congressman Is Invited To Mines

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 9 (AP)—
An invitation to come to the mines and "find out what it's all about" was extended Monday to Representative Poage (D-Tex.) by members of Lommi Colliery Local 2444, United Mine Workers.

Leonard Statskewicz, president of the local, wrote Poage, who made a House speech Friday criticizing the wage increase awarded the miners, "experience is the best teacher, and after a few days mining coal you will change your mind and retract your speech and become one of our staunch supporters."

Tired Kidneys
Often Bring
Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"I'm ready to go whenever I get the call," Sinatra was quoted. When that call will come has not been definitely indicated, probably one side or the other of New Year's Day.

Chapter 23

Peter Craig, flying from Los Angeles to San Diego, looked morosely down at the blue waters of the Pacific. He should have been enjoying the beauty of the Southern California coast line, but an image of a pretty, dark-haired girl kept bobbing up.

He recalled, now how she had said, confusedly: "It must be the uniform, or something."

Doggone it, what a dope he was. Sally tells him she's in love with a soldier, so he meekly says, "OK, baby," and bows gracefully out of the picture. Was that any way to get a girl? Where was his fight? Why hadn't he stuck around and given the soldier a run for his money?

Fortunately, he didn't think anyone on the Emergency staff had the faintest suspicion why he'd grabbed at this chance at Navy doctoring. It had helped a little just to get out of town in a hurry. But in another week he'd have to go back. Unless the Navy wanted him on its lists indefinitely. And so far there'd been nothing definite said. Probably after he'd got back to Washington, they'd blithely send him a peremptory wire with the usual confidence of the services that the civilian will naturally be delighted to accept.

Damn fate anyway! Why must he fall in love—fall in love irrevocably with a sudden terrific bang that jarred all his senses—just as the girl in the picture tells him she's gone overboard for a soldier?

All right. Maybe it was too late. But he was going back to find out. The fight was on. And the Navy could wait till Pete Craig settled his private affairs.

Peter Craig came into the doctors' dressing room, and slipped out of his operating gown with a sigh of relief. That dress suit might be sanitary, but it was barely endurable in the Emergency operating rooms from May to October. The top floor of the hospital was at least ten degrees hotter than the street—which was something. His first operation in months, performed barely two hours after his plane landed at the National Airport, had been a bird. But in spite of all the Navy business, it felt good to be back at his old trade again.

He dressed with care, wishing his garbardin suit didn't look as though he'd slept in it—which he had. He tied his tie slowly, eyed the result with dissatisfaction, and did the job all over again. He noticed his hands were shaking as he re-tied it a third time. What a business! He could go through a long operation even if he hadn't slept for 24 hours before it, and never have a nerve quiver. And here he was, on his way to see if Sally was still a single woman, and he was as jumpy as a high school valedictorian.

All across the continent, he'd planned the best approach. First, he was going to write her a letter. "Why don't we get together sometime, and you can give me all the news?" He discarded that idea almost as soon as he had it. It was too vague. And it gave Sally too easy an out. She could just fire the letter in the wastebasket and forget it.

Then he thought he'd call her as soon as he reached Washington. (He'd wanted to call her from California, till he'd remembered how little money he had on hand.) But the telephone was unsatisfactory. If he called her at the office, she'd necessarily have to be formal and polite. At the boarding house, the telephone was in the hall, and there wasn't much privacy for her. And the connection would probably be lousy. Those pay telephones always were.

No, the only thing to do was to go see her. He'd try to catch her as she left the office, even if he did look like a stage door Johnny waiting for her on the sidewalk by the Social Security building. What he'd say to her when he did see her, he didn't know. He'd planned quite a speech on the plane, and was busy memorizing it when he caught the amused glance of a major across the aisle from him. Evidently he'd been doing it with gestures. Peter reddened with embarrassment, and dived behind the protecting covers of a magazine. Now he couldn't remember a word of that prepared talk.

Then a thought struck him with the force of a hard right to the jaw. His hand grew clammy. Suppose—just suppose Sally wasn't even in Washington! Suppose the soldier had been transferred elsewhere and Sally had left town too. She might even have married him. Damn it! Why hadn't he thought of that before! He should have written her that letter. Or gotten a trustworthy pal to find out for him if Sally was still at the War Commission.

He felt sick. I've got to get out of here in a hurry, he told himself, and find out where Sally is. By now, he'd forgotten that he might have some trouble selling Sally on the idea of falling in love with him. All he asked was that she still be here, and not married to that guy.

He thought he'd never get out of the elevator. There were so many visitors to the wards, they had overflowed into the staff elevator; and the staff men all wanted to shake his hand and ask about his Navy job. A nice bunch of guys—but right now his only thought was to reach Sally.

Quarter of five already. He'd have to stop on it. If he was lucky, he could get a cab. He saw one, ran in pursuit of it for a block, then gave up the chase. At the street car platform he mopped his face, and tried to get back some of his everyday composure. But his heart was thundering like an express train, with pulses of tension pounding jerkily in his head.

The street car crawled through the congested streets. It parked for five minutes in a long line of other stagnant street cars at Pennsylvania Avenue and Twelfth Street. Peter almost decided to get out and walk. But the car started again with a jerk.

With a little practice, a man can hush three or four times as much corn from the standing stalks as he can of shucked corn.

by Check

You can steer a straight course through clouds of bills if you pay by check, and you will always know exactly where you are financially.

Many inexperienced clerks have replaced men gone to war. Mistakes may be more frequent.

Protect yourself. Pay by check. You will have a reliable record of your expenditures and receipts to prove payment. You will save money and save time and worry if you pay by check.

Our Government asks us to conserve fuel, manpower, transportation, critical materials

How to use less heat

and still keep warm

Experience has proved that the biggest fuel saving you can make comes from thorough insulation of your home, installation of storm windows and doors, and weatherstripping and caulking openings which let in cold air, defying your heating plant to keep the house comfortable.

In the interest of saving fuel... for war plants... and for your own pocketbook, incidentally... whether you heat with Gas or other fuel... we suggest that you check with dealers in these services and materials right away, while manpower and materials are still available. They can show you how to save money, save fuel, and keep comfortable on less heat.

1 INSULATION

Saves from 15% to 25% in fuel cost—helps keep more uniform temperatures—makes home cooler in summer—gives added fire protection.

2 STORM SASH

Save 11% to 18% in fuel cost—minimize outside noises—keep your home cleaner—eliminate drafts and "sweating" of windows.

3 WEATHERSTRIP

Saves from 10% to 20% in fuel cost—stops "window rattle"—prevents drafts. This and caulking can help get better heat, save fuel.

4 Give your furnace a CHECKUP

Often, cleaning and adjustment will put your furnace in perfect operating order—saving fuel and money, giving better heat.
